The Goddard-Maher Battle Brief, but Brutal.

Three Fastest, Fiercest and Bloodlest Rounds on Record.

The Australian Wins the Fight by a Square Knock-out.

Great Day for Antipodean Pugilist George Dawson Finishes "Doe" O'Connel in Twenty Rounds

By Telegraph to The Times.

Coney Island (N. Y.,) Dec. 8.—[By the Associated Press. | The battle be-tween Joe Goddard of Australia and Peter Maher of Ireland, fought in the Coney Island Athletic Club tonight in the presence of 8000 men, for a purse of $7500 to the winner and $1000 to the loser, was won by Goddard in the third round, when he knocked his antagonist completely out. The fight was as fierce as it was short. With was as nerce as it was snort. With only a little preliminary sparring the big fellows set to work in the first round with the activity of featherweights and the flerceness of wildcats. Both men were badly winded at the end of the round, but it seemed that the or the round, but it seemed that the Irishman was no match in strength for his antogonist. The scene in the first round, when it appeared that Maher might possibly win, was one of the most exciting ever witnessed in the annals of pugilism. For the short time it lasted it was one of the bloodiest and flercest rounds ever witnessed. Goddard was rounds ever witnessed. Goddard was rounds ever witnessed. Goddard was covered with blood from almost the first blow. He lacked science, but he was much the stronger man, a differ-ence of twelve pounds in weight being in his favor, badly handicaping Maher. As the brawny gladiators returned to their corners, covered with blood, the spectators went into a perfect frency of spectators went into a perfect frenzy of delight. A smell of fresh, warm blood permeated the air and seemed to rouse permeated the air and seemed to rouse their savage instincts to a pitch that was indeed alarming. The second round was a repetition of the first in heavy fighting. For not a moment was there a cessation in the slugging. Science was forgotten and each man tried to finish the other as quickly as possible. In the third round the men went at it finish the other as quickly as possible. In the third round the men went at it

In the third round the men went at it again at a pace that could not possibly be kept up for any length of time. They fought like demons. After the rible exchange of blows for nearly a minute Maher was knocked down and out, after the most vicious and furious fight ever seen here.

The evening opened with a ten-round bout between Barney Mullens and Jerry Sullivan. It was a game fight from Sullivan. It was a game fight from start to finish. Mullens was the cooler and more clever of the two, and his straight left-hand jabs resulted in the referee giving him the decision at the close of the contest. For the fight of the evening, Goddard was the first to appear. He was given a hearty reception, but it was nothing compared with the ovation given Peter compared with the ovation given Peter Maher. Maher wore green tights, and Goddard white. Maher was esquired by Jack McVey of Philadelphia, Martin Costello of Beffalo, and Tom Clark of Coney Island. Joe McGrath of Dublin acted as bottle holder and Jack Sheenan as timekeeper. Goddard was seconded by the Gibbons of Patterson Billy. timekeeper. Goddard was seconded by Jim Gibbons of Patterson, Billy Madden and Alex Greggains. Morris officiated as timekeeper. John Pack-hart acted as the club's official referee and Bob Stall held the official time. Goddard came into the ring with an air of confidence, walked over to Maher when he appeared and shook him by the hand cordially. The coin was tossed and when it was seen the Irish lad had won the lucky corner, a great shout arose. Everything being ready, time was called and the contestants faced the scratch.

First round—The men sparred can-

First round-The men sparred cau-ously. Goddard led and forced Maher tiously. Goddard led and forced Maher to his knees, when he took advantage of the necessary ten seconds. Maher drew first blood. The men fought like wildcats. Maher landed his right and left and was forced to the ropes by Goddard, who was so tired he could hardly stand. Maher made a great rally, but his blows only served to make Goddard angry and he hit wight and left landing. angry and he hit right and left, landing angry and he hit right and left, landing at will. Maher was wild, hoping against hope to land his right, which he did four or five times, but Goddard only went at him more determined, and the fight looked to be a short one, for Maher was winded and could not hold his own against his powerful opponent. When time was called Maher staggered to his corner and it was pushed. to his corner and it was plainly all day with him. No two 110-pound men ever

Second round.—Goddard landed with left and right, and then the men closed. There was hard infighting and hitting with right and left until Goddard landed a right that sent Maher to the floor. He was up in time, and they were again at it hammer and tongs, smashing each other with right and left until they both were so tired they could scarcely stand by the time the round was completed. Neither showed signs of science. It was purely a case of brute strength, and the man who could land the most blows was bound to win. Both men reows was bound to win. Both men re-blows was bound to win. Both men received terrifie punishment.

Third round—Both men came up looking dazed from the furious fighting of the previous rounds, but both were determined to end the contest as soon as possible. Neither man showed the least science, but rained blow after blow on each other as fast and hard as possible. Goddard looked the worst possible. Goddard looked the worst blow on each other as fast and nard as possible. Goddard looked the worst punished man in appearance. His face was covered with gore, which flowed in streams down his breast. He went at Maher like a wild beast and fairly beat him down by brute strength. The Irish lad stood up gamely under the shower of blows, but at last was laid low by a straight right on the jaw and possible. Goddard looked the worst punished man in appearance. The Irish lad stood up gamely under the shower of blows, but at last was laid low by a straight right on the jaw and fell face down on the floor. The excitement was intense, the crowd being fairly crazed with excitement. The round lasted just fifty seconds.

New York, Dec. 8.—After his fight with Maher tonight Joe Goddard said, spiritedly: "I mean to make Jim Corbett fight. He has been calling me down long enough. I shall post a forfeit of $1000, or for that matter, of $5000, and if he don't consent to fight within a year I shall let the forfeit go to bind a match with any man living. I fought Peter Jackson to a standstill in eight rounds, and am sure'l have beat more and better men than Corbett has. I think Corbett one of the cleverest men I ever saw, but he can't hit one-tenth as hard as the man I have just beaten? Corbett ignored my challenge, but I don't see how he can get out of a match."

ANOTHER AUSTRALIAN WINS.

George Dawson Knocks Out "Doe" O'Con-nell in Twenty Rounds.

San Francisco, Dec. 8.—[By the As-sociated Press.] George Dawson, the clever young Australian who has been quietly accepting all gages of battle that have fallen between him and the world's welterweight championship, met a new foeman in the person of "Doc! O'Connell of Boston at the California Athletic Club tonight. O'Connell came here accompanied by an Eastern reputation for gameness and cleverness that seemed to make him a worthy opponent of the conqueror of Jim Burge, Billy, Maber and Danny Needham, and local sporting circles, have looked forward to the match with great interest. Dawson has always trained carefully for his battles, and all reports from O'Connell's headquarters had given good accounts of him, so that the betting tonight was influenced by no adverse conditions. Dawson was the favorite shortly before the hour for entering the ring, at odds clever young Australian who has been the hour for entering the ring, at of 20 to 8. It was announced that Dawson and O'Connell weighed in at 3 p.m. just under 140 pounds. The purse was $3000, the loser taking $250.

O'Connell entered the ring amid applause at 9:03, closely followed by Dawson, who received an ovation. Young Mitchell, Joe King, and O'Connell's brother Dan seconded the Bostonian. Eddie Graney and Ed Alexander seconded the Australian. Billy Jordan was referee. O'Connell appeared thin beside the well-knit Australian. Time was called at 9:05.

First round—O'Connell led first, but the men clinched and he missed. Dawson got in the first punch on the Bos-the men clinched and he missed. Daw-son got in the first punch on the Bos-tonian's wind. The latter seemed nervous and led short several times. Dawson closed the round with a right over the kidneys, his favorite blow. O'Connell's appearance was disappoint-ing to the spectators.

O'Connell's appearance was disappointing to the spectators.

Third round—O'Connell forced the pace and dashed in a number of lefts. Dawson tried for an opening several times, but missed. Dawson landed a staggering left on the chin, but O'Connell forced him to run from a left jab. followed by a right-hander. Dawson could done of the secolly done of the secolus do

Fourth round—O'Connell landed a long right on the ribs. Dawson stopped a couple of leads, but narrowly missed one full in the mouth. Dawson found some trouble in reaching the Bostonian some trouble in reaching the Bostonian, who was very shifty. An exchange and clinch was followed by a hard smash with the left on Dawson's cheek. Fifth round—Dawson led, but was stopped. O'Connell led his left, but fell short. Dawson landed a hard left on the arm. The Bostonian swung right and left, Dawson neatly escaping. O'Connell was doing too much work in the opinion of many, to last long. He smashed. Sixth round-Both men were wary O'Connell led a long left, leaving him-self open, and Dawson nearly dropped him with a right on the head. O'Con-nell ducked after a lead and Dawson smashed him three short-arm blows in the mouth. A clinch followed. O'Connell broke his way out and the round

Seventh round-O'Connell suddenly caught Dawson a left in the face and followed by a right on the head that nearly dropped Dawson. O'Connell struck Dawson a blow that sickened The referee warned the Boston ian that if it occurred again he would ian that if it occurred again ne would give the fight to Dawson. O'Connell now apparently had a strong lead, and though Dawson tried for him there was manHestly a lack of steam in him, while the nervous Bostonian made most of his

Eighth round-Dawson had thus far appeared to less advantage than in any of his previous fights in this country, and what he lost in the estimation of and what he lost in the estimation of the spectators O'Connell gained. A counter by Dawson and a rally in a cor-ner at the close of the round, in which Dawson landed several times without return, were the only features of the

BRUSSELS, Dec. 8.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] When the International Monetary Conference adjourns at the end of next week it will probably leave the respective governments represented to decide whether or not it shall reassemble in January. The American and other bi-metailic delegates will try to obtain from the con-conference a recommendation to all governments to allow from a year to eighteen months to elapse before taking active measures toward changing the present currency policy. Advocates of this recommendation have in view a possible improvement to the general monetary position. They also hope much from the growth of bi-metallism as a political force in British politics.

In reply to the invitation extended to in reply to the invitation extended to him by the conference, Prof. Andrews made an address, in which he said he hoped the idea that America is bent only upon increasing her national wealth and is merely acting as a servile creature to mine-owners will for-ever be dismissed as being equally ab-surd as the idea that America's interest is mainly due to the distress afflict-ing the American monetary system. Continuing, Prof. Andrews said:

Ontinuing, Prof. Andrews said:

We have not, and are not at present likely to have, a dollar in silver beyond our needs in the United States. We have no idea of soliciting any favor from the peoples of Europe. What we desire is as much to Europe's interest as to ours; we wish to multiply our trade with the world. This will never be successfully accomplished as long as two great groups of nations continue to drift apart. We will not forever continue aloue the task of sustaining the price of silver. If Europe is not enough interested in the matter to cooperate with us, we will soon decrease our annual purchases of silver and begin to provide by recruiting our currency by issues of paper. The next Congress is nearly certain to open procedure in that direction. We will not give our gold. early certain to open procedure is irection. We will not give our gold.

Referring to the tariff, Prof. Andrews, and it was obvious that there was no surer way to lower the American tariff than for Europe and the United States to agree upon a policy favorable to silver as money. That alone, he declared, would abate the incessant conflict for gold and leave us free to effect gener-ous reductions in the customs tariff.

Telegraphers on the Rock Island Road Go Out.

Trains Semewhat Delayed, but Still Moving - The Company Taking Active Measures to Fill the Strikers' Places.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—[By the Associated. Press.] Chief Ramsey, of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, says that the strike on the Rock Island road is now on and that all telegraphers went out at 10 a.m. General Manager St. John, of the Rock Island road, on the other hand, said to an Associated Press reporter that everything was running as usual, and the telegraphic business of the road is being conducted without de-lay. As far as he is advised the men had not gone out. Some men might have struck here and there, but he had not received any advices to that effect. The great point of interest is whether the men will succeed in obtaining the active cooperation of other organizations of train men. Notwithstanding the claims of officials of the Rock Island Company that only forty operators went out, they were today endeavoring to obtain 290 operators. Chief Ram-sey declared tonight that if the road sey declared tonight that it the road employed non-union men it would simply force a strike upon other branches of the road, as the men would not work with non-union operators.

The Morality and Vice War in New York City.

Dr. Parkhurst's Methods Vigorously De nounced by the Superintendent of Police—Young Gardner Indicted for Extorting Money.

By Telegraph to The Times. New York, Dec. 8. - [By the Associated Press.] The fight between Superintendent of Police Byrnes and Rev Dr. Parkhurst, president of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, is growing more bitter. Byrnes is out tonight in lengthy reply to Parkhurst's latest communication. In it he produces statistics to show that, while there are ouses of prostitution in New York, there is not another city in the world of its size so free from the evil. After talking at great length of the various methods for the suppression of this vice

Byrnes says:

Dr. Parkhurst has lived in the world long enough to know how uncharitable it is toward this class of sinners (fallen women, how little it has learned of the lesson of his master taught when they brought before him the woman seized in adultery. Let me ask Parkhurst to how many of them he has given shelter; how many his society has taken from the street, where they were driven by the public sentiment he professes to represent. Theoretically, there are two ways to deal with prostitution. One is to suppress; the other is to license it. License it we will not. There remains only the middle course, compromise; if Parkhurst chooses. That course is to thrust the evil as far as possible out of sight; hide it from public view, where it cannot corrupt the morals of our growing youth. That is all the police can do, and they are doing it to the best of their ability. Parkhurst may call it subterfuge, but I know it and every policeman knows by experience that in proportion to the efforts made to suppress the evil along the only available path, it increases in violence; because the breaking up of, houses of ill-fame simply results as seathering the inmates through tenement and apartment houses, where they do infinitely more harm than before.

As to gambling houses, let me say that when teaching and preaching succeeds in making men good, then gambling will stop. Never in the history of our city was there as little gambling in public and as as much in private as today. Patrons now gamble at their clubs and in private houses, which the police cannot reach.

In closing, the Superintendent says:

True charity begins at home. I shall be prepared when Dr. Parkhurst comes to me in a proper swirt is found. Byrnes says: Dr. Parkhurst has lived in the world long

Though some risk is incurred in holding oranges, those who hold late almost invariably get best prices. Chicago will the coming spring consume a much greater quantity of oranges than formerly, and as there will be few other oranges on the market than those furnished by Southern California, prices are quite sure to rule high. There is no doubt but that the Florida crop is a light one, and in view of the shortage in that State the market for our fruit should open at good figures. However, dealers will soon begin their tale of woe, with view of depressing prices.

Max Nebelung will this week finish shipping the walnut crop of this section. The shipments amount to sixteen carloads and the net price is something like $1600 to $1700 per car. THE report of the second Board of Government Engineers in favor of San Pedro as the place for the projected deep-sea harbor ought to settle all local controversies concerning this matter. There is no such thing as going back of the returns. It is now everybody interested in the prosperity of Southern California to do his best to secure the proposed improvement. California will look to her representatives in Congress to put the best foot foremost, and secure, if it is possible, the necessary appropriation.

Mayor Hazard's Plan.

The plan of making nominations by political parties, as submitted to the Taxpayers' League by Mayor Hazard the other day, has so many novel features about it, and seems so practical withal, that it is worthy of discussion. It is virtually an extension of the sys tem adopted by the Republican City Central Committee in our recent campaign for the nomination of Councilmen members of the Board of Education-to have the nominations made by the voters themselves. Mayor Hazard's plan would dispense with the caucuses, primary elections and nominating conventions altogether. He would have in the possession of the City Central Committee a registry of all the Republican voters in the city, verified by the Great Register. This the committee already has, as the result of repeated canvasses in past campaigns. When the time ap-proaches for nominations, every man who wishes to run for an office on the Republican ticket will hand his name to the secretary, together with a fee determined upon, to help defray expenses. When the time for listing candidates expires, the secretary will prepare printed circulars, setting forth all the names that have been entered for each office, and one of these, together with a blank form ballot, duly numbered, will be mailed to each registered Republican. All the recipient has to do is to fill out his blank ticket, or check off the candidate whom he favors and either mail it to the sec retary, or leave it at his office. A sufficient time is allowed for all voters to respond who desire to do so, and the ballots, as received, are deposited in a locked poll box. Finally, in the presence of the Central Committee, the box is opehed and the votes are tallied. The candidates for the several offices receiving plurality votes are declared the nominees of the party.

This method, as stated, would dispense with all the machinery of cau cuses, primaries and conventions, and would throw the nominations directly into the hands of the voters. There are objections to it, of course, in the placing of so much responsibility on the Central Committee, and particularly upon its secretary. Designing and disonest men in these positions would simply be masters of the situation, and pervert the whole system. no system is so perfect that it can be honestly carried out unless it is placed in the hands of honest men. It possible that enough safeguards could be thrown about the election to insure its efficacy and integrity. But it would have to be watched very carefully

Inasmuch as we are already launched on a campaign for the correction of errors which have crept into our political methods, we may as well go over the whole field and make our reform as effectual as possible. The Australian system of balloting already inaugurated begins to show a revolutionary tenlency on the part of voters. evidently seem disposed to take mat ters into their own hands more than ever before. The party machine, under the wear and tear of the little rubbe stamp, seems to be in danger of break ing up. The convention of the domi nant party may name the candidates but there is no certainty of electing them unless the wielders of the rubbe stamps concur, and, as before stated aforesaid wielders are disthe The time when every voter had his party affiliations, to which he ad hered through thick and thin-voting for the proverbial "yellow dog" placed in nomination-seems to have gone by. judgment will increase, rather than

The greatest trouble with our system of ward caucuses has been that they are too apt to be neglected by the better members of the party and too apt to be monopolized by professional politi-cians and ward strikers. The same is true of the primaries. The greatest trouble with our nominating conven-tions is that they are too industriously 'worked" in the interest of particular candidates. The ticket usually put forth by such a convention represents a series of trades from top to bottom. solid delegation that supports & for Mayor says to the solid delegation supporting B for Auditor, "If you will vote for our man, we will vote for yours." Presto! the trade is arranged and the calling of the roll finds it accomplished. In this sort of trafficking the question is never asked, "Who is the best man for the position?" Who will be acceptable to the party at large? Who is the that inherently weak candidates are placed on the ticket. They do not represent the best judgment or the real preferences of a majority of the delegates who nominated them but they gates who nominated them, but they represent a series of bargains and sales swaps and compromises.

Now that the little rubber stamp is beginning to search out such candidates with wonderful discrimination and place its seal of disapproval thereon, it becomes a serious question whether the mercantile system of nominations will not have to go by the board. The matter of fitness, availability and popularity is likely to come to the front. can the best men be secured for party nominees? This is the question.

The Proposed California Reservation.

The proposition of the United States authorities to establish in California a arge Government reservation is eliciting a good deal of discussion among the up-country papers, and is likely to be a very live topic before the mat-ter is concluded. B. F. Allen, a special agent of the United States Land Office, has just concluded a survey, upor which he has based a recommendation to the department to set off for such reservation a strip 140 miles long by from forty-two to forty-eight miles in width, lying in the counties of Mariposa, Fresno, Mono, Invo, Tulare and Kern. This includes a considerable section of the Sierra Nevada range, and embraces the watershed of San Joaquin Valley. It covers the head waters of the Merced, San Joaquin, King's, White, Kern and Tulare rivers, and Poso and Cross creeks. The object of making the reservation is to protect the watershed from denuda tion and save the timber on Government land. Hitherto there has been much vandalism in this quarter. Sheep men, who pasture their flocks in the valleys during a portion of the year, have been in the habit of starting tires in the mountains to burn off the timber and chaparral. The reward comes the next season, when the mountain slopes thus denuded put forth a grewth of tender grass, and the sheep are driven up them for early feed. Another class of depredators are the woodchoppers, who have cut and hauled away thousands of cords of wood without a vestige of right to do so. It is not claimed that there is any body of arable land in the proposed reservation, and the only benefit secured from it by individuals hitherto has been illegitimate. As a watershed it is of inestimable value to all of the resident of the interior valleys. If it did not serve this purpose those valleys would be uninhabitable. Every student of climatology knows the important bear ing which tree and shrub growth has the sources of water supply There is no necessity for arguing this question. It seems to us, therefore that the proposed reservation is a wise and salutary step. It does not concern our portion of the State di rectly, but we have a living interest in anything that may benefit the Common The only individua at large. interests that are likely to be restricted are those of the sheep men, the woo choppers and possibly Miller & Lus and other land barons who have large herds in the adjacent valleys, and who have no doubt enjoyed a good deal o free pasturage from the mountain California's true prosperity does not lie in this direction, but in maintaining the fertility of the country and promoting agriculture and horticulture light, the reservation strikes us as a good thing.

THE Fresno Republican is reading th stars. It says: The deathly pallor on the face of the American plutocrat is caused by the fear of an early and deserved death. In a few weeks the Democratic party is going to jump on his form with both feet, and stamp the breath of life out of the miserable wretch.

Yes, there is no doubt but Bill Whitney and Mr. Paine and Henry Villard will soon get hit by the Democratic pile-driver, for that party is dead against any man with more than a dollar and eighty-four cents. They are also going to rip up the tariff and run a hundred-ton roller over the trusts. It will be a scene of carnage directly!

THE International Barbers' Association, that proposes to quit shaving people on Sunday, had better pause and consider or it will boom the razor, and razor strap, and soap and shaving-brush market beyond all reason. Her voice is sweet and musical. although it is at times raised to a too high key in the impassioned scenes of the play; still she has a most winning maner and a stage presence that is very pleasing and effective. Her reception last night was of the most cordial character, especially in consideration of the fact that it was her first appearance here, curtain calls following the first, second and third acts, some of them being very hearty and enthusiastic. In fact, Mrs. Cutting made a hit last night, and will doubtless draw great houses during the remainder of her engagement. The rôle of "Arthur Lenox" was taken by William F. Owen, who played the rôle of "Sir Anthony Absolute" here with Joe Jefferson last season. Mr Owen made a very good "Lenox." entering capitally into the spirit of the rôle, and was the recipient of many plaudits. Much interest was centered in Robert L. Cutting, Jr., the husband of the star, and, erstwhile one of the gilded youths of society in Gotham, who appeared as "Sacha Weletsky." Mr. Cutting is a talk, young gentleman, with a pleasant, handsome cface, but he did not develop any great talent as an actor last night, although we have seen many worse ones. R. Patton Gibbs made a very good "Baron Frjedrich." The remainder of the company developed sumicient ability to carry out the designs of the playwright with fairly good effect, and to make the evening's performance one of satisfaction to the audience. NEW YORK, Dec. 3 .- Before you pu on your new bonnet consider whether your hair is arranged for good effect The new styles of hair dressing are no only beautiful and most womanly, bu they provide a guarantee of cleanliness Only the frequently washed and care-fully brushed locks will part and wave softly. No longer will it do to give the mere fringe in front a hasty scrul once a week, or once in two, to keep it "fluffy." More than a mere fringe is involved in the present styles. A SENATORIAL REVIEW.

The bemocratic Cakland Times on Foot White, et al. [Oakland Times, Dec. 7.]

[Oakland Times, Dec. 7.]
The absurdity of the proposition that any one but a Democrat can be chosen by the Legislature this winter to represent California in the United State Senaté is too apparent to require ever a denial. Even fraud cannot overcome the Democratic majority in this Legis lature, and to elect anybody else would lature, and so elect anybody else would be so palpable a usurpation and so glaringly criminal that the people would not submit. The assumption is altogether ridiculous and absolutely untenable as an argument in the discussion of the qualifications and prospects of Senatorial candidates.

Two Demographs are prominent before pects of Senatorial candidates.

Two Democrats are prominent before the people in this connection. These are Stephen M. White of Los Angeles and W. W. Foote of this city. The Democrats of this section naturally prefer Mr. Foote. As a matter of fact he should be the unanimous, choice of the Democracy of Central California. Mr. Foote's record as railroad commissions. Foote's record as railroad commissione Foote's record as rairroad commissioner certainly matches that of Mr. White in the line of public policy affecting the railroad corporations of California. His position in this regard is unmistakable, and the confidence that he has inspired has never been weakened by the slightest inimical action on his part in public or private conduct.

est inimical action on his part in public or private conduct.

Mr. Foote's popularity is not sectional. He is universally popular, and his convictions concerning matters of public policy are as well understood in Siskiyou as they are in San Diego. His outspoken opinion on every question affecting the interests of the people has gained for him a deserved and abiding admiration, and it has instilled a confidence in his integrity that cannot be dence in his integrity that cannot be shaken.

Mr. Foote's honesty and his unswerving devotion to principle is ably sustained by his clear judgment, his ability as a man of affairs, and by a mental capacity at once sound and brilliant when submitted to the critical test of when submitted to the critical test of expression. He is not a millionaire, but he has means sufficient to give him prestige and standing in the social world at the Nation's capital—a consideration that may not be overlooked even by those who most thoroughly believe in the primitive simplicity of the Jeffersonian period of our history.

It is not too much to say that one of the strongest elements in Mr. Foote's favor, in this contest, lies in the char-acter and motives of the people who are opposing his candidacy. This will be taken into consideration when the be taken into consideration when the final effort is made before the Legislature, and it must operate materially in the interests of his fight.

His relations with Mr. Cleveland are of the most cordial character, and he is in full sympathy with that gentleman in full sympathy with that gentleman on every proposition thus far advanced, either politically or for the common benefit of the people of the entire country. Mr. Foote, on the occasion of his recent visit East, met Mr. Cleveland at Buzzard Bay, and in a long and confidential discussion of the sallent issues, arrived to the rough understanding as arrived at a thorough understanding as regards the general policy of the in-coming administration.

Southern California is of course ap-parently in favor of Mr. White's elec-tion, and Mr. White's friends are maken ing earnest and very laudable efforts or his behalf, but unfortunately we cannot regard Southern California otherwise than as a section. It is a section, how-ever, that is not backward in demandthan as a section. It is a section here, that is not backward in demanding whatever it imagines may redound to its credit or emolument. We use the word "demand" advisedly, and we use it not in a reproachful sense, either, for even a section, endowed with a full sense of its sectional importance, has a right to demand, or claim or take whatever may lie within reach. It is equally appropriate that the rest of the State should object occasionally, frequently or all the time. The section of the State included in the somewhat vague designation of Southern California has even gone so far in its devague designation of Southern Cali-fornia has even gone so far in its de-mands as to force State division into mands as to force State division into the serious deliberations of the Legislature. Southern California claims the Governor of the State as a resident of that section and now demands a United States Senator. If the section south of Tehachepi is a unit in this demand they must not take it amiss if they find the Tehachepi is a unit in this demand they must not take it amiss if they find the rest of the State opposing with another candidate, and they must eventually submit, gracefully if they can, perforce in any event, to the decision of the Democratic caucus. This will be the honest method of settling the rival claims of contesting candidates. If in the caucus it is found that Mr. White, Mr. Foote or any other candidate has re-Foote or any other candidate has re-ceived a majority of the votes, the de-cision should be accepted as final and as a clear and unmistakable expression of the wishes of the entire Democracy of the State. Even sectional pride, prompted by sectional pique, should not operate to engender discord in the ranks of a party whose tenure on the government of the commonwealth is government of the communications on one too strong.

It is hinted that some of the members of the Legislature elected on the People's party ticket by the aid of Democrats will vote for but one candidate. for United States Senator. This is not right; it is not fair. It must not be understood that we charge Mr. White personally with a breach of the good faith that should be maintained in this instance, but we do say that if Mr. Foote, whom the Times cordially and menouivecally endourses as a candidate Foote, whom the Times cordially and unequivocally endorses as a candidate for the United States Senatorship, had any friend among his legislative ad-herents who would vote for him only in herents who would vote for him only in the face of the vote of the Democratic caucus we should as heartily denounce the action as we now denounce such an attempt on the part of the 'friends of other candidates. It is the due of the Democracy of California that they semocracy of California that they should receive the support of every People's party candidate whom they assisted to elect; and a defection in the matter of the election of a United States Senator indorsed by a Democratic caucus would be not only dishonest but unprecedented.

Mr. Foote is not an elevanth here can est but unprecedented.

Mr. Foote is not an eleventh-hour candidate. Before the State convention at Fresno he was announced as a candidate for the United States Senate if the Legislature should be Democratic. During the campaign he was not only active on hehalf of the party, but he contributed materially to the ultimate success of the Democratic candidates for the Legislature that will choose a United States Senator. The assertion that no Democrat has a right to aspire for the Legislature that will choose a United States Senator. The assertion that no Democrat has a right to aspire to this honor except Mr. White, because the latter has been a candidate for two years, is neither good logic nor sensible politics. Jetemiah Lynch has just as much right to be a candidate before this Legislature as either Mr. Foote or Mr. White, The same may be said of the gallant leader of the New Democracy of San Francisco. Who will deny to Dennis Spencer of Napa the right to present himself as a candidate for this office, even in the face-of the claim that Mr. White self as a candidate for this office, even in the face of the claim that Mr. White has been a candidate for two years? Is there any reason why Mr. Spencer, one of the ablest and best esteemed men in California, should be debarred from this contest or denied the right of aspiring because another citizen, with no more valid claim on the suffrages of the Demand of the contest of the suffrages of the Demand of the contest of the desired that the suffrages of the Demand of the contest of the desired that the suffrages of the Demand of the contest valid claim on the suffrages of the Dem-ocratic representatives than he, ha been a candidate for two years is urged for the place on this plea? If there is any valid reason why priority of candidacy for this office should insure and compel an election, what is to prevent some Democrat of the back counties from filling his caveat now on the Senatorship to succeed Senator Stanford? It is not intended by this line of argument to belittle or impair Mr. White's candidacy. Quite otherwise; and it is a praiseworthy circumstance that the Democracy of California have, in the present juncture, such men as Mr. White and Mr. Foote to choose their Senatorial representative from. But we object to the elevation of any one man above all others on the assumption we object to the elevation of any one man above all others on the assumption that he has a mortgage on the office and must not be opposed on any consideration whatever. We do not believe that Mr. White himself encourages any such assumption on the part of over-zealous and ill-advised friends.

Alameda county has always beer called "the banner Republican county of the State." but under the leadership of the friends of W. W. Foote it has been wrested from the party heretofore of the friends of W. W. Foote it has been wrested from the party heretofore holding it in thrall as a political suzerainty; by the efforts of such leaders the Democrats have been able to divide the legislative delegation and give to the Democracy enough votes ont of a Republican bailiwick to enforce a majority that this winter will east. Democrative that this winter will seat a Democrat is the United States Senate as a representative of the State of California. Every citizen of Alameda county, irrespective of party affiliation, is strongly and singerely in favor of Mr. Foote, and if it were a matter to be decided by a vote of the people we do not believe there would be ten dissenting voices in this section of the State.

Believing thus and firm in the opinion that Mr. Foote is as eligible, available and necessary to the welfare of the State and the Democratic party as any other candidate, we feel amply warranted in presenting his claims and thoroughly justified in urging his indorsement by the Democratic caucus, and his election by a Democratic Legislature. that this winter will seat a Democrat is ature. [How our Oakland contemporary "figures it out" that Mr. White is any more of a "sectional" candidate, or any less of a State candidate, than Mr. Foote, we do not understand.—ED.

A WEAK WAR ON WHITE.

While the false story that Hon. Stephen M. White is a "railroad attorney" is being industriously circulated, it is significant that the friends of Senait is significant that the friends of Senator Stanford and Col. C. F. Crocker are very active in their support of Hon. W. W. Foote. Democrats are openly asked to assist in the dereat of Hon. Stephen M. White to "windicate" Senator Stanford from the attacks made upon him by Mr. White during the campaign of 1890. Yet in the same breath Mr. White is charged with being a "railroad man." Two years ago he made a fight for the Senatorship by flatfooted opposition to Senator Stanford and the policy of the Southern Pacific, the interference of which in politics he condemned in scathing terms. For this he is labeled "a railroad man" by the supporters of a gentleman who enjoys the supporters of a gentleman who enjoys the support of Col. Crocker and Senator Stanford. The Democratic party is not giving the heads of their most trusted leaders on a charger to Republican leaders and railroad magnates. If Senator Stanford desires another "windication" he must not ask it at the hands of Democrats. tor Stanford and Col. C. F. Crocker are sts Can Visit Catalina Island in the Winter-The Santa Fe's Adobe Depot - General Ballroad News.

Reference was made several days ago to a rumor to the effect that the South ern Pacific Company would secure con-trol of the Rio Grande Western road. A dispatch from Salt Lake City yesterday repeated the story, giving an unnamed railroad man as authority for the positive statement that the Southern Pacific will absorb the Rio Grande, which deal would have the result of bastening the construction of the new road from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles. On the heels of this dispatch came one from Denver quoting General Manager Dodge of the Rlo Grande Western as saying emphatically that the story is without the slightest foundation.

LANKERSHIM.

The copious rains of the past week have put the ground in excellent condition plowing and seeding, and work in that di-rection is moving along in good shape. The abundant crop of the past season, ex-cept some corn yet in the field, is taken care of, and mostly marketed at good prices. It is no longer an experiment, but an established fact that large crops of prices. It is no longer an experiment, but an established fact that large crops of fruit, grain, and vegetables of the best quality can be raised here without irrigation, and perhaps this accounts for the many sales of real estate that are being made to actual settlers who show their failth by their works, in building substantial improvements. Among the most prominent, we notice a two-story eight-room house, a large barn and outbuildings, by W. H. Andrews; also a beautiful six-room cottage and other buildings by W. C. Weddington, which would be a credit to any locality. They are built close to, and on either side of the school house, giving the place the appearance of a nice village.

There are other numerous improvements in the course of construction. We will note some of them at another time. The outlook for another year is bright, and the average citizen is well pleased and contented. There is but one thing to mar our happiness, that is to get a good road to Los Angeles. In fact, we can't get along without it much longer, and unless we get it soon we will hold somebody responsible. Our moral and social condition is keeping pace with other improvements, and there is lots of fun on foot for the holidays. "No calamisty here."

SOME LAW TALK.

Important Meeting at the Chamber of Commerce.

Discussing Proposed Changes in Some of the Laws.

A Plan for Remedying Existing Evils in the Delinquent Tax Sales.

Ideas of His Own-Publication of Public Expenditures - Lively

A joint meeting of the board of di-rectors of the Chamber of Commerce, a committee of the municipal reform movement and the members elect of the Legislature was held in the meetingroom of the chamber yesterday after noon, with Dan Freeman presiding and C. D. Willard acting as secretary. The legislators-elect in attendance were R. N. Bulla. Capt. Simpson of Pasadena and Frank G. Finlayson.

Mr. Freeman announced the object of the meeting to be the discussion of certain measures proposed by the chamber, among them being a law regulating the assessment of taxes and the property for delinquent taxes, and a law requiring the publication of monthly statements of city indebtedness, which it was desired passed by the coming Legislature.

M. L. Graff then read the propose delinquent tax-sales measure, explaining the plan in detail as he proceeded,

as follows:

First—When a tax becomes delinquent there shall be added a penalty of 5 per cent. for each month of such delinquency, payable to the State.

Second—Affec the tax has been delinquent for one year the property upon which the tax is a lien is to be sold by the proper officer for the total amount of such original tax, penalty and the cost of publication.

Third—The purchaser at such tax sale shall have a lien for the amount for which he shall have purchased the property, and 25 per cent. In addition thefeto, together with legal interest until the redemption shall have taken place.

with legal interest until the redemption shall have taken place. Fourth—The owner, his heirs, administrators, executors, successors or assigns, or any one having an interest therein shall have the right at any time before foreclosure of the lien to redeem from such sade by paying the purchase price, with 25 per cent. in addition, and interest thereon. Fifth—If one year shall have elapsed without a redemption having taken place, the purchaser must, within one year thereafter, foreclose his lien, or the same shall be forever barred and said lien be deemed fully satisfied and paid.

Sixth—It shall be the duty respectively of the District Attorney and of the City Attor-ney to foreclose said tax liens 'in all cases where the county or city has become pur-chaser within the same time as herein pro where the county or city has been provided in other cases.

Seventh—In the foreclosure of a lien by a purchaser he shall be entitled to his original purchase price, a penalty of 25 per cent, interest on the whole amount thereof from the date of purchase and attorney's fees, to be fixed by the court; but where the lien is held by the court; but where the lien is held by the county or city there shall be allowed $10 for each lien, to be paid into the treasury for school purposes; and where the same person is the owner of several tracts, pieces or parcels of land, upon which there are tax liens held by the same person, they must all be foreclosed in one action.

Eighth—After a foreclosure of a tax lien and the sale of the premises, the right of redemption from such sale to be the same as upon the sale of real property on execution.

A general discussion followed, par-ticipated in by City Attorney McFar-land. Charles Forman, Judge Silent and others, in which the defects of the pro-posed measure were brought out.

Mr. McFarland thought the penalty was excessive, and he thought this should be reduced, while Mr. Formar suggested several minor changes of de Judge Silent thought the law was Judge Silent thought the law was a step backward, as it had been tried in the Statesome years ago and found not satisfactory. Judge Silentgave numer-ous instances where the laws had worked great hardships on taxpayers, and suggested remedies for several ex-isting abuses, among others the posting of notices at a cost of $3 for each in-dividual lot.

R. N. Bulla stated that he did not approve of the plan presented, and had declined to sign the pledge when it was presented to him. He had a plan of his own, which he desired to present. He thought the general aim of all amendments should be to simplify laws and render them less expensive. The cost render them less expensive. The cost of litigation now is too expensive, too burdensome; and in some cases justice burdensome; and in some cases justice was denied, for the reason that people rould not afford to go into the courts for redress. He favored reducing the number of Superior Court judges, which would be impossible under this law. Mr. Bulla said the law would be a good thing for the lawyers, but he world not go to Sacramento as a lawyer, but as a representative of the people. Mr. Bulla favored as few changes in the law as possible, in the interest of the people. In brief, he favored a law which would make the State the sole purchaser of all property sold for taxes, which would make the State the sole purchaser of all property sold for taxes, and he thought a constitutional law could be passed which would cover this view of the case, and that with but few changes in the existing statutes. Mr. Bulla explained in detail his plan, answering all questions in regard to the constitutionality of the law, and giving instances, notably that of New Jersey, where the law as proposed by him was where the law as proposed by him was in practical operation.

J. L. Murphev opposed any scheme or change by which any citizen may become a tax-buyer, for the reason that a great hardship is frequently worked to taxpayers. He opposed any law which would give a deed for taxes, as he did not think it right to confiscate valuable property for a few dollars. He thought would give a deed for taxes, as he did not think it right to confiscate valuable property for a few dollars. He thought notice should be given in all instances. Mayor Hazard thought the committee was getting to the gist of the matter, and that was the importance of giving notice. The tax laws at present seem to be framed so as to keep notice from the property owner until the time has slapsed when notice can be given. He thought the State should take actual possession of all property delinquent for taxes. He was unqualifiedly opposed to the plan proposed by the committee, which would, in his opinion, result disastrously.

Charles Forman indorsed the plan proposed by Mr. Bulla in the main, but suggested one or two changes in detail.

Mr. McGarvin favored giving notice, and allowing a reasonable time for redemption, but when the property was sold he thought the sale should be absolute, for the reason that the property would then be sold for something like its real value, the surplus to be turned over to the original owner.

Mayor Hazard thought the payment of taxes should be the same as the payment of a debt at a bank. Make the taxes payable the 1st of January, and allow them to be paid at any time during the year with a discount for prompt payment.

Mr. Hazard was proceeding to elaborate the reason that the property has a payable the payment.

prompt payment.
Mr. Hazard was proceeding to elaborate his views, when he was called to order by Mr. Graff, which point was sustained by the Chair.

The proposed bills for the publication of monthly statements of city and county indebtedness were then read. The bills provide for the publication in two papers having the largest sworn circulation, representing the two leading political parties, and fixing the compensation.

Mr. Forman explained the working of Mr. Forman explained the working of the law in Nevada, saying that a great saving had resulted, and that in a short time the taxpayers came to look for it, and demanded it as it had the effect of limiting expenditures.

Capt. Simpson thought quarterly statements would be sufficient, and Mr. Finlayson, while indorsing the principle of the publication, thought as a matter of economy it might be published in a small, obscure paper, and trust to the large papers to watch matters, and in case of anything radically wrong, it would be exposed.

D. K. Edwards opposed the publication of the full list, on account of expense, as he did not see why fixed charges should be advertised, as every one knew them.

Mr. Bulla indorsed the measures as proposed. He thought the idea a good one. He favored the publication of everything, and he thought the publication should be made in the leading mayor Hazard thought one trouble grew out of the fact that the Supervisors had no stated time for holding meetings. If this could be done a great step forward would have been taken. The next measure to come up, the proposed registration of land titles, after what is commonly known as the Australian system, was then presented, and after some remarks by George H. Peck on the improvement of the rivers, the meeting adjourned.

THE COLUMBIAN HALF-DOLLAR.

How to Get the Souvenir Coins With the

To Patrons of The Times and to the Public: The new World's Fair Souvenir Coin, it is learned from Washington, will be the most States Mint. On the obverse side will appear the head of Columbus, designed from the Lotto portrait, and surround ing it the words, "World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1892." On the reverse side will appear a caravel, representing Columbus's flagship, and be-neath it two hemispheres. Above the caravel will be "United States of America," and beneath the hemispheres, "Columbian Half Dollar." There is no doubt that this coin will prove to be the most distinc-tive and most sought-after low-priced souvenir of the World's Fair.

All of these souvenir coins except five are being sold at a uniform price of $1 each. For the first coin struck off $10,000 has already been offered, and various prices have been bid for the 400th, 1492d, 1892d and the last coin. Desiring that these souv-enirs be distributed as widely as possible among the people, and that all, irrespective of locality, have an equal chance to them, the Exposition authorities have sought to prevent syndicates and others from purchasing large quantities and thus "cornering" the sale.

A vast number of inquiries by letter have been received at Exposition headquarters asking how the coins may be obtained. One way is to get them through local banks, all of which are no doubt willing to accommo date in that way their patrons. If, howthem otherwise, it can be done by the peo-ple of Southern California through The TIMES. We have made arrangements with Col. A. F. Seeberger, treasurer of the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, for a supply of these unique coins.

Atty.-Gen. Miller Submits His Annual Report.

Southern Pacific's Methods Come in for Some Comments.

Democrats in No Hurry to Admi Arizona and New Mexico.

Bids Opened for Heating Apparatus for the Los Angeles Public Building-Adverse Report on California River Improvements.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—[By the Associated Press.] Atty-Gen. Miller in his annual report reviews the work done by the department during the year, and calls attention to the growth of business therein, especially in the department of the Court of Claims. The va rious classes of claims chiefly occupying its attention are then statistically set out. He calls attention to the enor-mous amount of Southern claims piling up for supplies, etc., taken by the Union army during the war, amounting at present to about four hundred milltion dollars. He points out that a large proportion of these are without merit, being made by persons who were at the time in rebellion, and suggests that un-less Congress puts some barrier between the treasury and these claims, there is no telling what amount the Government will be called upon to pay.

The report refers to the new Circuit The report refers to the new Circuit Court of Appeals, and says that the number of cases before the Supreme Court is decreasing as a result of its establishment.

The Attorney-General discusses the decision of Justice Harlan in the case of the United States against railroads and telegraph companies pending in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of California. He

the Northern District of California. He says:

In view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Shaw vs. the Quirty Mining Company, it may well be questioned whether the broad proposition contended for retailive to the inhabitancy of a corporation will be finally sustained by the Supreme Court. The result reached may be sustained upon another ground, argued before Justice Harlan, but not passed upon by him, viz: that the ordinary rule would not apply in a case in which the United States is the complainant. I desire to renew the recommendation contained in my last report that section 1 of the act of August 13, 1888, be amended by inserting a proviso in italics after the word "inhabitant" the following sentence, namely: "And no civil suit shall be brought before either of said courts against any person by any original process, or proceeding in any other district than that whereof he is an inhabitant; provided that any foreign corporation may be sued in any district where it may be found." In many localities these great corporations have unwarranted influence among the people summoned as jurors in State courts, and it is not just that the Southern Pacific Company, which, though chartered in Kentucky, does not own any property in that State and has no offices or officers there except mere clerks, but which operates vast lines of railroad in the State of California, where it holds control of millions of dollars of property, and holds its directors meetings and maintains its general-offices, shall be exempt from suits in the United States courts in California, and the litigant be required to go to Kentucky to griforeclaims and after obtaining judgment there, if he be fortunate enough to find any person upon whom to obtain service, be compelled to go to California and sue there upon the judgment or decree of the State Court.

An Adverse Report on Some of the Pro-posed Improvements.

Washington, Dec. 8.—[By the Associated Press. | Secretary Elkins has ciated Press.] Secretary Elkins has sent to Congress the result of several preliminary surveys in the Pacific Coast States by officers of the Engineer Corps. In several instances it was found that to carry out the improvements desired would result only in private benefit, and that there was no public necessity for the work. public necessity for the work. Among these is the San Joaquin River from Hill's Ferry to Firebaugh Ferry, the project including the closing of the sloughs in the vicinity of Stockton. Maj. Heuer recommended that no work be done, as the place was not worthy of improvement. The same is true of the Tuolumne River, which it was hoped would be converted into a navigable stream, and of the mouth of the Navarro River, where Maj. Heuer says the construction of a harbor is not a public necessity.

construction of a harbor is not a public necessity.

In the case of the Stanislaus River, Maj. Heuer thinks there is no feed of improvement at present, as any work done would be only of limited local benefit, would not decrease freight rates or insurance, and would not tend to productiveness of the soil.

Maj. Heuer made a careful examination of the old river branch of the San Joaquin, and arrived at the conclusion that a low water channel six feet deep should be dredged through the bar. No additional survey is necessary.

skinning the fat meat, cut in pieces about an inch square, and put into the kettle. Cut the leaf, web, etc., in larger pieces and put at the top. Cook slowly at first till thoroughly heated through. As the pieces part with the fat contents of the kettle should be stirred often. When the fat looks clear and the cracklings turn brown and settle, set the kettle on the top of the stove and cook slowly a short time.

Dip the lard from the kettle and strain into a jar through a strong towel, put a quantity of the cracklings in the towel and let a person; at either end of the towel twist it to extract the fat. When all are treated in this way, set the jar of lard in a cool place and stir frequently that it may cool evenly. Lard should be kept in a cool, dry place. Cut the skins in pieces and extract the fat by baking.

Head Cheese.—Split the head between the jaws, take out the tongue, and split through the middle the other way. Cut off two inches of the snout, and take off the jaw bone and nasal cavities as far as the teeth extend, and cut across at the eye and also at the opening of the ear. Remove the eyes and brain, and clean the pieces; and the ears by scraping well, with repeated rinsings. It bloody, soak in salt water. Put in a kettle with water to cover and set over a quick fire; remove the scum as it rises. When the meat can be easily removed from the bones, take it from the water, remove every least bit of bone, season with salt, pepper and sage, chop fine and press. When the liquor in which the head was boiled is cold, remove the fat, reduce the liquor by boiling, and use for stock.

Souse.—Cut off the horny parts of the feet, then scrape and wash thoroughly, singeing any stray hairs; put the feet, in a kettle of water, when it boils skim, then pour off the water and cover with fresh holling water. Cook till very tender, and without removing the bones pack in a stone jar, sprinkle over pepper and salt, and cover with good cider vinegar. Spice the vinegar with cinnamon and cloves if you like; keep under the vinegar with a plate and weight.

The heart, "skirts," tail and tongue may be used for mince meat, and also the joints above the feet.

Farmers' Mince Meat.—Let the above, after being cleaned, lie in salt water twelve hours, cook till tender in water, remove and reduce the liquor to one quart, which will be a thick jelly. Remove the bones and skin, chop very fine, and add double the quantity of chopped sour apples; moisten the mixture with the meat jelly after removing the grease; sweeten and season to taste.

The Lisbon Lemon. [California Fruit-grower.1]
G. W. Garcelon of Riverside, an experienced lemon-grower, maintains that the Lisbon is the best variety of lemon to plant in California. The lemon should always be budded upon orange roots, as lemon upon lemon root is sure to succumb to the gum disease. Mr. Garcelon says:

roots, as lemon upon lemon root is sure to succumb to the gum disease. Mr. Garcelon says:

"For fifteen years I have been a lemon-grower, and lemon was maintain, from all my points of observation, that the the Lisbon lemon leads, and has influenced the decision of the judges, at both county and State citrus fairs, to award to the writer the first prizes. When sold the Lisbon has brought the highest prices and given the best satisfaction; and in answer to the many inquiries I have received as to what lemon to plant I would emphatically say the Lisbon. The tree grows well and bears well; the fruit keeps well, looks well, sells well, and the buyer is well pleased with his purchase. If there were defects in the tree or fruit, then I would be the first one to advise further experimentation."

Cinnamon for Anta
[The Rural New Yorker.]
Some one from Boston tells Good Housekeeping that ground cinnamon and ground cloves, scattered in the cracks of closet shelves, also in the bottom of cake boxes, will entirely dispel ants. Cinnamon alone will do this if the ants are not overwhelming in number and size. Houses have been ridden of thousands of black ants and small red ones by the use of cinnamon.

Plant Cabbage

Vegetables are scarce and high in the East ern cities this winter. At Chicago especially the demand is far greater than the supply. Cabbages are expected to go to 25 cents apiece in Chicago this winter. At that rate, even taking the freight into count, they would pay better than oranges. Southern California cusht to supply the whole Eastern country with winter vegetables.

An Evening of Music-The Universalis Closes-People Coming Going-General Local Notes.

At the annual congregational meeting of the First Congregational Church held Wednesday evening the usual order of "business before pleasure" was reversed. for in this instance the pleasure came first in the shape of a sumptuous supper, and later when the business part of the pro-gramme was taken up everything was of such a satisfactory nature that it was only a continuance of the strictly pleasure end excellence, was presided over by the pastor, Rey. D. D. Hill. At the conclusion of the repast toasts were responded to by W. T. Clapp, Dr. G. Roscoe Thomas, E. Groener-dyke and Dr. Page. Adjournment was then made to the main anditorium, where the meeting. The report of the clerk showed a membership of 232 at the last annual meeting. During the past year there were sixty-one additions and thirteen dismissals, which places the present membership at 280. The church was organized in 1885 with a membership of forty-four. In 1886 there were six additions, in 1887 twentywo additions, in 1888 eighty-nine, in 1889 twenty-nine; in 1890 twenty-seven, in 1891 fitteen, and in 1892 forty-eight. The benevolent contributions for the year amounted to $458.74. The gross receipts

amounted to $458.74. The gross receipts amounted to $458.91, and the gross expenditures to $4509.87, leaving a balance of $71.34 in the treasury. The report called special attention to the fact that owing to the prompt payment of pledges on the part of the congregation all bills had been promptly paid during the year on the first of every month. Reports were read from the various-church organizations, including the Woman's Missionary Society, the Ladies

Young People's Society of Christian Endeavo and the Coral Workers, all of which were of a most satisfactory description.

The Ladies' Central Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association will give one of their popular entertainments next Tuesday evening, which will be free to all. One of the novel features of the evening will be a court of judges, consisting of Prof. George Conant, Dr. F. Grinnell, Prof. W. P. Haramond, Mrs. D. I. Holt, Mrs. Elizabeth Slack and Mrs. Dilingham, who will pass upon the merits of ingham, who will pass upon the merits of the entertainment, the first part of which will be given entirely by ladies, and the second partentirely by gentlemen.

The object of the entertainment is to obtain book donations for the association library. All who can are invited to bring a book and donate it to the use of the scores of young men who frequent the reading room. The idea is a deserving one, and will no doubt meet with a liberal response. Everybody is invited, no matter whether or not they can bring a book.

THE FAIR CLOSES The Universalist Church fair, given under the auspices of the Ladies' League, closed yesterday evening, after a successful two days' session. The attendance was large and the patronage at the various booths was quite liberal, so that the receipts were altogether satisfactory. Latest Developments in the Chio Lloyd Case—The Warspite.

Clio L. Lloyd, charged with disturbing the peace of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Flora Lloyd, during the late illness of her husband, was fined $50 by Justice Crane yesterday morning, with the privilege of spending one day in jall for every $2 of the fine. He is now trying to get off on a technicality. Lloyd gave himself up to Sheriff, and applied to the court, through his attorneys, J. J. Boyce and Frank P.
Kelly, for a writ of habeas corpus. The application states "that the petitioner is imprisoned upon a pretended judgment of one, H. G. Crane, a Justice of the Feace, tounded upon a charge and alleged facts, which did not and do not now constitute any public offense, that it appears by the record of such judgment is void, and said Crane had no jurisdiction, power or auth ority in law to pronounce the same.

It is understood that the petition is based upon a technicality in the complaint—the admission of the word "maliciously."
The complaint states in effect that the offense was willfully and unlawfully permitted, and the defense hope to convince the court that the omission of the word
"maliciously" is grounds for a writ.

The case came up at 2 o'clock yesterday and went over until today at 2 p.m. Lloyd

The New County Convention to Meet Tomorrow—Notes and Personals.

Great interest is being manifested in this place about the new county convention which is to be held in the operahouse tomorrow (Saturday) morning. The thirty-seven delegates, to which Pomona is entitled according to the agreement of the various sections, are all ready for work. The discussions will be interesting, as both sides of the subject will be undoubtedly stated in full. There are some surprises in store for Pomona's delegates, for which, if they are wise (and they undoubtedly are,) they will be on the lookout. There are not only surprises from other sections, but also from Pomona. There is a certain class of men in this place who are quiet, but they are wise. They wait for the time to strike before they make any effort. They will be in the convention, and our delegates had better be looking for them. They will undoubtedly oppose the new county scheme, and if they don't get in their best licks in the convention, they will later. There is not a reader of The Times in Pomona who does not know who they are.

The Progress calls attention to the great increase in the shipments of fruit from Pomona during the last season over that of four years ago, when the shipments of dried fruit sonly amounted to nearly 180 carloads. This last season the dried fruit shipments amounted to nearly 180 carloads. According to that rate of increase, in four years more we should ship 1440 carloads of fruits. One thing is sure, and that is that our apricots, peaches, prunes, pears and olives are coming rapidly to the front, and strong efforts are being made to have the fruits shipped from Pomona to be of strictly first-class quality, so that when a dealer buys Pomona fruit, he can really say it came from the home of the Goddess of Fruits because it is perfect.

The recount of the votes for the office of County Clerk was begun yesterday before Superior Judge Campbell in compliance of the contest of M. V. Sweesy, Republican candidate, who was defeated, according to the official returns, by C. D. Hamilton, Democrat, by thirty-four votes. C. W. C. Rowell appears for the contestant and Will A. Harris for the respondent, and yesterday there were counted the votes of six of the eight Riverside precincts, in which, together with several others, contestant claims there were fraudulent returns. In the six precincts Hamilton has made a gain of one vote in the count, eight ballots have been objected to by the attorney for the contestant, and six by the attorney for the respondent, and the Judge has taken these fourteen ballots under advisement. Never before has home talent appeared to such advantage in Redlands as in the entertainment given last night in the Academy of Music by the people of the Episcopal Church and their friends. It was really an artistic entertrainment as regards stage settings, talented rendition of parts and arrangement to sustain interest, and there were no long-drawn parts by any particular individual.

The programme opened with an overture, Verdi's "Nebuchadnezzar," by the Redlands orchestra. Then came a series of balf a dozen tableaux. The first, "Mother Goose Medley," had the numerous characters of the familiar rhymes most vividly portrayed, and amused the old and delighted the young in the audience. "The Courtship of Miles Standish" recalled the beauty of the Arcadian some by depicting the scene of the first visit of the ambassador to the object of his affection, where the bashful youth is startled to hear from the lips of the coy Puritan' maiden "Why don't you speak for yourself, John'." The next depicted "Marie Antoinette in the Conciergie," in the act of saying grace on the eve of execution. Then came "Blue Bédard," with the heads of his many victims hanged by the hair to the wall of the awful room of execution, and the heart of many a Redlands youth beat with envy at the success of the milispet in carrying away so much of the beauty of the Genetity for which their hearts and vearned. "The Parting of Ruth and Noom!" was a pathetic picture, portrayed with apparent truthfulness to the passage "Entreat mee of to leave thee." The other was a scene from "Laila Rookh." where the Prince appears before Laila with his entreaty, while gathered about were courtlers, attendants and others, making a pretty setting for the central atactive figures.

After a short intermission came what may be termed a light operetta, entitled The Enchonted Garden, consisting of a curtain stretched across the stage, on which was painted a garden scene, in the flowers of which appeared the faces of those participating in the singing. The characters were as follows: The Rose, Mrs. Edwards; the Polet, Mrs. Fowler; the Lily, Mrs. Warner; the Pansy, Mrs. Hemingway; the Sunflower, Mr. Dutton; the Hollyhock, Mr. Fergason; the Dahlia, Mr. Edwards; the Gardener, Mr. Gauston; the Man in the Moon, Mr. Ellis. The words of the operetta were composed by local talent, and were not only pretty, but in places contained some good local hits, especially in "Ask the City Trustiers," in which occur references to the outcome of the big storm-water ditch improvements n

Damage Along the Santa Clara River
During the Recent Storm.
During the recent storm the Santa Clara River did considerable damage by washing away its banks and adjoining lands. The east bank near the Jerusalem crossing paraway its banks and adjoining lands. The cast bank near the Jerusalem crossing particularly suffers, as the current flows strongly in that direction. At least ten thousand dollars worth of damage has been done during the last few years by this washing out process. It has been proposed to check these ravages by starting in above the difference of the desired and the stretching barbed wire upon these a few inches apart. This would catch the floating débris and form in time an effectual barrier against the encroachments of the river without interfering with the regular flow of the water. This plan has been tried by the owners of the Camulos rancho and they not only protected their land but succeeded in building up by alluvial deposits much of what had formerly been washed away. People-whose lands suffer each year during the wet season would do well to weigh the foregoing facts and apply them to prevent further damage.

An Important Suit Against the County Treasurer.

SANTA ANA.

George W. Ford vs. C. F. Mansur. 'as Treasurer of the county of Orange, is the title of a case filed with the County Clerk title of a case filed with the County Clerk late Wednesday evening. It is a case that is being brought to determine a point of lawover which the Board of Supervisors of Orange county and the Supreme Court of the State of California do not seem to agree. The case is an injunction against the Treasurer preventing him from paying warrants for bills allowed by the Board of Supervisors for clerked work in the Orenset Supervisor for the Supervisor that the County Supervisor for clerked work in the Orenset Supervisor for the Orenset Supervisor for clerked work in the Orenset Supervisor for the Orenset Supervisor for the Orenset Supervisor Super warrants for bills allowed by the Board of Supervisors for clerical work in the offices of County Clerk, Recorder, Sheriff and Tax Collector, the plaintiffs alleging that the payment of such warrants are not proper county charges, and that the allowance thereof is in conflict with section 11 of article 1 and with sections 5 and 9 of article 11 of the Constitution of the State of California, and that the services for which said several "amounts were allowed are such fornia, and that the services for which said several amounts were allowed are such services as should be performed by the principals in each of the above named of fices, their salaries being in full compensation therefor.

To all appearances the suit is being brought by the bondsmen of the County Treasurer to have the question settled once and for all whether or not the Board of Supervisors can employ assistance in the several offices under the head of clerical assistance when the Supreme Court has decided that they shall not employ deputies. It seems to be merely a conclusion as to the meaning of clerk and deputy. A defective county government act is at the bottom of the trouble, and the County Treasurer's bondsmen are surely wise in having the ugly gap, inviting future wrangles, settled at once, that they may have a clear understanding of what is before them. The result of the case is awaited with much interest.

The Poor Farm an Expensive Luxury—Jennie Carson's Insanity.
It is not known by what authority County Tax Collector Weineke and Assessor Shepard close their offices during the greater part of the day, but such is the case. Having business with their offices the other day, a citizen was confronted by a sign on the door stating that business was transacted from 2 to 4 o'clock p.m. It may be that these officers have a right to do this, but it strikes the public that offices are required to be kept open from 9 o'clock a.m., to 5 o'clock p.m., and the average citizen falls to see why the Tax Collector and Assessor should be any exception to the rule.
Poor Jennie Carson. She was accused of being insane, the usual preliminaries were quirkly gone through with and she was shipped off to the asylum. This much the papers here stated, but they forgot to add that the cause of her insanity was a miscarriage, which took place while she was working in the family of a prominent physician here. Her hallucination was of such a peculiar and revolting sort as to be very suggestive also.

working in the family of a prominent physician here. Her hallucination was of such a peculiar and revolting sort as to be very suggestive also.

San Diego's poor farm is a wonderfully expensive luxury. Judging from what it costs to run it, it would be a better boarding-house than the Hotel Coronado. The bills for the month of November, that is part of them, are now in and they only amount to $10.82.58. It may be necessary for the indigents to have wine on their table at every meal, (see Etcheverry's bill of $10.75 for wines,) and it may be necessary for the indigents to have wine on their table at every meal, (see Etcheverry's bill of $10.75 for wines,) and it may be necessary to spend $20.90 for drugs, and $266.45 for groceries, and $308.75 for "hospital expenses," but a tax-paying public does not believe it. Mr. Estees, the superintendent of the poor farm, is a brother-in-law of Superinser Woolman, and although his salary is not remarkably large he manages to save enough out of it, with the "perquisites," to play faro bank on—and there are mighty few men who can afford that these times. And if he gets beat he squeals and has the banker arrested, and there are mighty few men who can afford that these times. And if he gets beat he squeals and has the banker arrested, and there are mighty few men who can afford to be as mean as that at any time. There are a great many people here who would like to see a most searching investigation, into the affairs of the poor farm. It is hard to believe that it ought to cost as much to maintain it as it would to run a first-class hotel. The late lamented candidate for the Legislature on the Democratic ticket, J. W. Nance of Perris, is in the city. Mr. Nance doesn't like it a bit, and threatens to get even with some of those who helped do him up.

The decree of distribution of the Waterman estate has been entered and the affairs of the estate wound up. In the distribution Mrs. Waterman gets the Cuyamaca Railroad. The query is: What will she do with it? The celerity with which this estate has been settled reminds San Diegans that there is another estate in which they are largely interested and of which nothing has been heard for a long time, the estate of James M. Pierce. It will be remembered that Mr. Pierce left $150,000 to charitable objects. What has become of the $150,000: Who has been getting the use of that money all this time? What bank is it lying in? Why is not the estate settled up and the money devoted to the purposes intended by the testator? Who is profiting by this delay? Will the executors rise and explain?

A novel invention whereby the celebrated Rochester lamp is being used, as an oitheating device; over 300 have been sold since October 26, 1892. They are made in three sizes, viz.: Nos. 1, 2 and 3, the No. 1 being the largest and forty-eight inches high. They are gotten up in the most attractive manner, being elaborately nick-eled and conceded by all who have seen them to be not only the handsomest, but the best oil-heating stove ever put on the market. The Nos. 1 and 2 will warm an ordinary room in a few minutes, and is capable of heating two or more rooms, and is the most economical way of doing it. Being a lamp, the combustion is perfect, consequently no odor, and every one is guaranteed to piease or no sale. The inventor is F. E. PORT LOS ANGELES.

Why the Engineers Recommended San Pedro Harbor.

The Site Has Advantages Which Canno Be Ignored - The Harbor Can Be Easily Maintained and Detended.

The report of the Board of Army Engineers, favoring San Pedro as the most practicable and desirable site for a deep-water harbor, from which report extracts were published yesterday morning, was no surprise to those who had given much study to the subject, and it pleased a great many whose interests, directly or indirectly, are concerned in the welfare of that point. The prospect of a surcease of wrangling over the relative merits

AN UNBIDDEN GUEST. Tramp Found Taking It Easy in a

Wednesday evening B. O. Hanby, editor of Everybody's Paper, who re-sides at 1553 Rockwood street, found a tramp in his bed room.

He was about to retire, when he found the door of his bedroom locked, and was unable to force an entrance There was the sound of someone breath ing inside the room, and thinking som ing inside the room, and thinking some of the family might be able to explain the matter, he reported to his sister and brother-in-law, F. D. Jones. They could not account for the matter, and Hanby, with his brother, returned to the room. This time the door was wide open, but no one was found within. A search was made of the house, and while examining one of the rooms, a door to a closet was thrown open and there was revealed, standing in one corner, a man. The stranger was of medium height, wore a big overcoat and slouch ous boards.

It has been often explained in print and in speech that San Pedro has advantages not possessed by any other point on the Coast between San Franpoint on the Coast between San Fran-cisco and San Diego. The proposed deep-water harbor, as recommended by the board of engineers is to be outside of the inner harbor shown in the map, and will cost, it is estimated, $2.885,-324. 324. The system of breakwaters, by which the outer harbor will be made, has been described heretofore, and con-has been described heretofore, and consists simply of walls which shall protect the shipping within.

One paragraph of the engineers' report says: "The proposed harbor should not be primarily a port of refuge, but a port of commerce. The object is to provide a fine harbor for foreign trade, which will become one of great importance, and the coasting trade is a matter of secondary importance. From a national view, the capacity of the harbor for defense is a matter of the highest moment, since an indefensible commercial port is simply an invitation to attack in time of war. an invitation to attack in time of war We have now too many such ports, and it is not desirable to increase the num-and this fact seems to be all dued to in the paragraph quoted.

As an indication of the importance of San Pedro as a harbor, even as it is now, before the proposed improvements are made, some figures are here reproduced from the "Columbian number" of

A Singular Find.

Yesterday while Victor Atanons was digging up old stumps in the river bed just above the Macy street bridge he unearthed a singular find. He found an old tin can that must have been buried a number of years, and on opening it he was surprised to find that it was almost full of watches and chains on making an examination he found the cases of a fine gold watch, seven gold chains and a silver watch, the works of which had rasted away, leaving nothing but a little dust and pieces of wheels.

Second Day's Session of the Medical Society.

Sanitary Needs of Cities and Towns Discussed by Dr. Orme.

Health Officer MacGowan Defends the Administration of His Office.

Some Interesting Facts Brought Out-Papers by Drs. Kurtz and Bard, and an Informal Talk by Dr. Norman Bridge

The hands of the clock po 9:40 yesterday morning when ...e buzz of conversation up in the sky parlor of the Y.M. C.A. building was interrupted by Dr. Kurtz's cheery "Good morning, gentlemen," and the score or more of doctors who had been waiting forty minutes to hear Dr. Kurtz's paper, which was to introduce the subject of surgery, dropped into their respective seats, Dr. Bicknell brought down the seats, Dr. Bicknell brought down the gavel and the second day's session of the Southern California Medical Society meeting opened. Dr. Kurtz took up his stand beside the plano, on which reposed a case of glittering surgical instruments, leaned an elbow easily on the support, put his hand in his pocket and proceeded to discuss vertebral fractures. The hour which followed was full of interest to the doctors, and not entirely devoid of it to an outsider, even if he was not versed in the mystery of mending broken backs, for the animated discussion participated in by three of the acknowledged medical authorities on surgery was pated in by three of the acknowledged medical authorities on surgery was bound to create more than a passing interest. Dr. F. K. Ainsworth led the discussion of the paper and was followed by Dr. Lasher.

Drs. Bard and Brainard also presented some ideas on the subject.

The second hour was devoted to a paper by Dr. C. I. Bard, which excited general interest and called out a lively discussion, introduced by Dr. Lasher, who was followed by Drs. Davisson, Kurtz, Ainsworth and others.

Dr. O. D. Fitzgerald next read a lengthy paper on "Death from shock from a medico-legal standpoint," which brought up the Baver-to-be-decided question of when, for how much, and to whom railway companies are responsible in case of scidents. cided question of when, for how much, and to whom railway companies are responsible in case of accidents. The after discussion was led by Dr. Kurtz, who held that in deciding such cases, the rule which holds good in Germany should be adopted, namely, that of the government (or in our case, the State,) employing two medical experts, to decide the case and fix the amount of daments. He held that often people who age. He held that often people who escaped entirely uninjured from a rail-way accident, collected damages, and mentioned a case in point which came under his observation at the time of the Tehachepi disaster, when a clever wo-man secured $10,000 damages, although he was thoroughly convinced that she had sustained no injury what-that she had sustained no injury whatever.

The opening paper of the afternoon session was that presented by Dr. H. S. Orme on "The Sanitary Needs of Cities and Towns." He first reviewed the sanitary condition of several Eastern cities, notably Nashville, Tenn., Memphis, El Paso, and Juarez, Mex. London, with her population of 6,000,000 and an aggregation of poverty and misery at its eastern end unsurpassed in the civilized world, presents an average mortality lower than the principal American cities. Berlin also has a lower mortality than New York He quoted President Eliot of Harvard as commenting on the defective care of public health in American cities, and Francis Peabody in his recent article in the Forum on the mixing of party politics with civic administration. Coming down to local matters, he advocated the establishment of a sewage farm of about one thousand acres, and referred to high authorities to substantiate this claim. The smallpox hospital, he said, needed thorough investigation and reform. During the last epidemic of 1887-5 great complaint was made of the hospital buildings, and he suggested the plan of having portable cottages which could be taken apart and stored when plan of having portable cottages which could be taken apart and stored when not in use. This would obviate the necessity of paying a keeper $60 a month, which the taxpayers are at present doing. He emphasized the necessity of strict enforcement of the law regarding programming this had becoming the contract of the law regarding transfer. ing vaccination, which he considers the

In closing Dr. Orme said: "inasmuch as Los Angeles is being provided with a good system of sewers, it is rather discreditable that the barbarous cesspool of the primitive period is longer tolerated when sewer connections can be made. Here is practice work for a house to house inspection. Its first systematic order would be to give property-owners a reasonable time Its first systematic order would be to give property-owners a reasonable time (say six months) to make the change, and then see that they comply. remedy would be an ordinance to send animals and vehicles to the pound after remaining beyond a limited time in one spot, and a few wholesome examples would be enough; but it would be necessary to enlist the general police force in this crusade."

Dr. MacGowan, the Health Officer, then took the floor and assumed the defensive. He tangled his feet up in the adiacent chairs, flercely rattled the fensive. He tangled his feet up in the adjacent chairs, fiercely rattled the keys in his pocket, pulled down a refractory lock of hair, and proceeded to show that Los Angelee was not indulging in an expensive or non-effective sanitary system. He said that he did not consider the sum of $17,500 per year too much to pay for the care of garbage. It is not an altogether pleasant thing to care for the city's filth. He said that the garbage man himself told him not long since that he was not sure he wanted the contract another year. He had daughters growing up whom he wanted to shine in society, and how could they if it was known among the four hundred that their father made his money by dumping garbage? Having

He spoke extemporaneously on the subject, "The Medicine of the Future." A noticeable feature of his address was the simplicity of language used; no long Latin names were dragged in, and people who had not run the gauntlet of a medical education could comprehend the subject. He gave a concise review of the progress in medicine and surgery during the past quarter of a century, and predicts the time when the healing art shall be brought to such a degree of perfection that we will have a prevention provided for not only smallpox, but pneumonia, diphtheria, typhoid fever and scariet fever. These developments are now progressing in the hands of specialists who are spending their lives in laboratories devoting themselves, exclusively to this work.

A part of the papers on the pro-gramme were not presented, owing to lack of time. Dr. D. B. Van Slyck and Dr. Leonard Stocking held the atten-tion of the doctors with their excellent

The reference in yesterday's report to the number of cases of phthisis as stated by Dr. Bullard, should have read, "in a report of 4000 cases made in 1890, covering eleven years, of diseases of all kinds, consumption led the list, but two-thirds of all phthisical list, but two-thirds of all phthisical patients were imported."

RECEPTION TO THE DOCTORS.

Last evening the physicians, their wives and lady friends, attended a very wives and lady friends, attended a very delightful reception tendered them by Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Cowles at their home, the Pacific Sanitarium, corner Hope and Pico streets. The guests were cordially received by the genial doctor, his wife, and nother and handsomely entertained. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers and smilax and the entire sanitarium was thrown open for the inspection of the guests, who were quick to seize the opportunity to investigate the operating rooms, the massage and magnetic bathrooms, and note all the modern appliances, even to the concrivance arranged in each room whereby a patient can, like a Kodak fiend, "press a button," whose slightest touch will summon a nurse in the remotest part of the building. A punch bowl of lemonade with strawberries floating on the surface attracted such a throng to an operating room on the third floor that a passing visitor hastened that way, thinking an operation was in progress for the benefit of the crowd.

An orchestra discoursed music throughout the evening, and cakes and delightful reception tendered them by

The Outcome in Doubt Until the Last Ball Was Pitched-The Score 5 to 4, With the Locals at the Small End.

Yesterday's game at Athletic Park was an ample illustration of the superi-ority of an umpire as the winning element of a baseball contest. In other words, it was demonstrated that while one team may, by superior playing, beat nine rivals in the field, yet it is impossible to do so with the autocrat of the diamond rendering a faulty judgment against them, as was the case yesterday. There was only a faitsized crowd present, but the players were feeling their best, and it was evident from the start that the game was to be one of hard hitting and brilliant maneuvers along the bases. And such was certainly the case, as the score will show. The usual order was changed somewhat, the Angels going first to the field, thus leaving to McGucken, the mouraful the discounter of the control of the c first to the field, thus leaving to McGucken, the mournful, the distinction of opening the ball. This he did by lamming the sphere out into right garden for two bags, being followed with a single by Everett, who also stole second. Then Dooley sent the ball away out over Tom Brown's head, and while that noble expenset of hell science managed to ponent of ball science managed to sprint out and send the ball back in sprint out and send the ball back in time to prevent Hardsome Charley from advancing beyond first base, the two Dukes ahead of him were enabled to score. The Praise for Tom Rowan (Oakland Times.)

The election of Thomas E. Rowan Mayor of Los Angeles by the Democrats is a fitting tribute to a public-spirited, progressive citizen, such a citizen as the best communities should delight to honor. The election of Mr. Rowan is an emphatic rebuke to the spirit of silurianism which prevails to a greater or less degree in every Californian city, and which in some of these cities sits like an incubus upon the body politic, crushing out the breath of enterprise and destroying the very life of the community. During the incumbency of Mr. Rowan as Supervisor of Los Angeles county he distinguished himself by a constant effort to promote the material welfare of the people whom he so ably represented. He was untiring in his endeavors, and as a consequence of his labors and his sagacious persistence more important and lasting benefits were conferred upon the county than had ever resulted from the benefits were conferred upon the county than had ever resulted from the county than had ever resulted from the efforts of any other representative. In spite of this, however, he was de-feated shortly afterward, owing to the shortsighted policy that frequently an-imates even the most enterprising peo-ple. When his influence was no longer ple. When his influence was no longer felt in the councils of the people's rep resentatives, the loss to the community resentatives, the loss to the community was appreciated, and they hastened to redeem their mistake The opportunity occurred when the Democrats nominated him for Mayor of Los Angeles, and the fact that the citizens of that city are thoroughly in earnest in their efforts to promote their own welfare was demonstrated in the triumphant election of M. Rowan last Monphant election of Mr. Rowan last Mon day. That they will not fegret their phant election of Mr. Rowan last Monday. That they will not regret their choice goes without saying, and that Los Angeles will take a long stride forward on the broad road of progress and civic enterprise under Mr. Rowan's administration, is a prophecy that cannot be disputed by any act of his past record. record.

American Farmers Pay too Mach Interest.

[The Rural New Yorker.]

The propensity of American farmers, as a class, to pay interest, often at exorbitant rates, upon mortgages year after year, is phenomenal. The burden is oftentimes so heavy that it seems almost impossible to lift, it. Yet there are many instances in which a little extra exertion, a little more self-denial, a little closer figuring and better planning would have removed the incubus, and cut off the interest that is eating the very life out of all that is best and noblest in the farmer's existence. An illustration of this, and a most vivid one it seems to us, is afforded by a mortgage foreclosure just consummated in Saratoga county, N. Y. In the year 1808, a mortgage for $55 was executed upon ninty-one acres of land. Interest has been not depend the part of th 1808, a mortgage for $55 was executed upon ninty-one acres of land. Interest has been paid upon this for eighty-three years, amounting in all to $314.10, or nearly six times the face of the mortgage. This year the owner is unable to pay the interest, and the mortgage will be foreclosed. One of two things is certain; this must be an two things is certain: this must be an extremely poor farm, or the owners must have been sadly deficient in that quality known as gumption.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Bids for the Outfall Sewer Finally Awarded.

Work of Construction Given Out in Sections.

Canvass of the Recent City Election Returns.

Notice of Contest in the Fourth and Ninth Wards Filed-A Number of the Pre-cinct Returns Not Signed as Required,

The City Council met yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in adjourned session and took up without delay the business in regular order.

Mr. Jones, who filed last week an ap peal from the decision of the Street Superintendent in regard to certain work on First and Diamond streets, appeared before the Council and requested permission to withdraw his ap peal, as the differences had been satisfactorily adjusted. The request was Councilman Rhodes moved that the instructions recently given to the Superintendent of Street Sprinkling in relation to sprinkling, be countermanded, and it was ordered accordingly. The Finance Committee reported on certain demands in the amount of $2126.50, which were approved by the Council.

THOSE SEWER BIDS

The tangled question of the disposi-tion of the bids on the outfall sewer was then called up, and City Engineer Dockweiler was called in and asked to out-line his views as to which he considered the most desirable bid for acceptance by the city.

A communication dated November 28,

A communication dated November 28, from certain business men, was received, asking an investigation of the siphon portion of the proposed system. The Engineer stated that he believed, and almost knew, that the communication was a campaign document. He, however, would invite criticism and investigation. The communication was referred.

Councilman Tufts thought the sewer construction matter had been postponed long enough. He had repeatedly urged the Engineer to make a report and express an opinion as to which bid was the lowest, all points considered, but nothing had yet been procured from him in the way of a recommendation.

THE SEWER COMMITTEE REPORTS.

THE SEWER COMMITTEE REPORTS. The Sewer Committee then reported

Mansfield on section 4, $26,830; Frick
Bros. on section 5, $24,730; same on section 9, $27,454; Hughes & Meyers on section 8, $24,602; Frick Bros. on section 9,

In no case is there to be allowed for shall rock in excess of the Engineer's estimate on any of the sections as extras.

THE ENGINEER HEARD FROM.

Mr. Dockweiler then stated that as the report of the committee had been presented, he felt no hesitation in expresented, he felt no hesitation in expressing his opinion. If he was accepting a bid on his own responsibility and for private jobs with the view of securing the best work, he would accept the bid of McNally & Co. for many reasons. They employed the best bricklayers, had the most capital at stake, and would, in all probability, get the work through on time.

ncilman Rhodes didn't agree with Councilman Rhodes didn't agree with the Engineer. He said certain conditions could be embodied in the contract providing for the completion of the work within a particular length of time, upon forfeit. It was folly to say that the work could not be done in sections as advantageously and cheaply as it could be done in the lump or whole. Some more desultory discussion was then indulged in for a time, and the report of the Sewer Committee was finally adopted and approved with instructions to the City Attorney to prepare the necessary contract and bond, the Sewer Committee to act in conjunction with that official that official.

An amended fire ordinance passed under suspension of rules.

FROM THE CITY ATTORNEY. The City Attorney then offered the following report, which was adopted: following report, which was adopted:

Mr. Perry Wildman having demanded the return of his check for $5000, deposted with his bid for the funding bonds, giving as his reason that the attorneys in New York have refused to approve the bonds for the reason that the law providing for the issuing of funding bonds was unconstitutional, for the reason that said law did not provide for the holding of an election, I recommend that the check be returned to him. This law is very defective in many particulars, and I believe it will be difficult to sell bonds issued under its provisions, and now that the Constitution has been amended so as to allow the issuing of forty-year bonds, I believe the proper procedure would be to have a proper funding act drawn and passed this coming session of the Legislature, and funding bonds issued under its provisions. By making the bonds forty-year serials, payable in gold coin, I believe they could be sold drawing a percent interest, provided it was payable semi-annually.

CANVASSING OF BLECTION RETURNS. It was then moved and carried that the Council proceed at once with the canvassing of the city election returns, President Bonsall appointing Council-men Rees, Alford and McGarry as tell-men Rees, Alford and McGarry as tellers.

J. Marion Brooks, chairman of the Democratic City Central Committee, appeared and gave notice that the election for Councilman from the Fourth Ward would be contested, which matter would come before the new Council, which would be the judge of the election and qualification of its own members. Mr. Brooks also stated that the election in the Ninth Ward would be contested, on the ground that Campbell, the Republican Councilman-elect, was not a citizen of the United States, there being some informality in his naturalibeing some informality in his naturalization papers. It is alleged that Mr. Campbell took out his second papers three years and two months after the first were issued, whereas under the law five years must elapse. The contest in the Fourth Ward is on general grounds, and Mr. Chanslor is taking no part in o'clock, the last of the tally lists and all been checked off, and all that remained to be done was the summing up of the various totals. But here again a centingency arose which occasioned a further delay.

As the canvassing had progressed it was noticed that the returns from precincts eight, nine, ten and twelve of the Eighth Ward, the fifteenth of the Seventh Ward, the thirty-seventh of the Third Ward and fortieth and forty-third of the Second Ward lacked the necessary signatures of the officers of election, and each as it was entered upon the total sheet was checked therefor. After this work was all completed the question was brought up and offered to the City Attorney as to whether the count would be official in case those precincts were counted before the signature.

count would be official in case those precincts were counted before the signatures necessary were added. Mr. McFarland said in his opinion it would not be, and, tpon motion, it-was agreed by the Council to adjourn the session until today at 2 o'clock, and the negligent election officers cited to appear and fulfill the requirements of the law. Strange as it may seem, it invariably happens that the boards of election, through want of necessary intelligence or unfamiliarity with the laws, neglect the important formalities required, and thus occasion a great deal of unnecessary delay. The official count report is now all prepared except the summing up of final totals, which will be done as soon—as the requirements are complied with in the cases of the precincts referred to this afternoon. CLOSING BUSINESS.

CLOSING BUSINESS Just before the Council adjourned the clerk presented a petition from certain property owners on Twenty-third street property owners on Twenty-third street asking that the proceedings toward the sidewalking of that street be suspended. Councilman Rhodes explained that the petitioner would bear the necessary expense of printing, and, as the move was merely to allow the letting of individual contracts for the work, he moved the petition be granted and an order entered accordingly. The motion passed unanimously and the Council then adjourned to meet today at 2 o'clock.

THE CITRUS FAIR.

The Question of Location—Arguments for San Bernardino County.
[Times-Index, Dec. 7.]
The Los Angeles Times of a recent date objects in strong terms to the State Citrus Fair being held in this county at Colton decided by the county at Colton and decided by the county at the co

Citrus Fair being held in this county at Colton, and desires to have the place of meeting fixed at Los Angeles instead.

San Bernardino county is recognized to be emphatically the leading county in the State, in the culture and production of citrus fruits. Its annual shipments of citrus fruits equal the shipments of the entire balance of the State.

The quality of its citrus fruits are an

The quality of its citrus fruits are superior to those produced elsewhere, with few exceptions.

they are maintained.

Those who desire to see citrus fruits in perfection, either on the trees, in the packing honses, or choice selections for exhibition, must come to San Bernardino county. It is here that hundreds and thousands of intelligent men have devoted years to the study of the habits of citrus trees, and it is here that may be found the most abundant water supplies and the most perfect system of distributing the same.

Eastern people who contemplate in vesting capital in citrus orchards not only wish to see choice selections of fruit, but they wish to see the orchards in which these fruits are grown to the highest perfection. These facts make it not only reasonable but highly proper that the State Citrus Fair should be held in this county.

It would have been desirable to have held the fair in this city, it being the natural center of the citrus belt, and having a pavilion suitable for the purpose, with abundant space for the exhibit and the reception of visitors.

But Colton has stolen a march en the balance of the county. It has raised the funds, about thirteen thousand dollars, with which to erect a magnificent structure specially designed for citrus fairs. Colton has worked up its scheme to the point where it has essentially gained control of the situation, so far as this county is concerned. It has the pledge of the two southern members of the association that the fair shall be held in Colton.

That being the case, the question of location dwindles down to a choice between

The indirect benefits of bringing thousands of people to this county will be felt for years to come in an increased sale of real estate in all parts of the county, and an increased value of citrus lands.

and unite in an effort to bring the fair here.

Los Angeles has had one fair which was not patronized to a great extent by her citizens. It was not a roaring success, to say the least. Either Colton or San Bernardino has railroad facilities equal to those of Los Angeles. Over sixty passenger trains arrive or depart from San Bernardino daily, and people from San Diego or Orange counties can visit San Bernardino as readily as Los Angeles. In short, San Bernardino is the central point of the citrus belt.

In years past this county has furnished the bulk of the citrus fruits to make fairs in Los Angeles a success. In return for this Los Angeles can well afford to return the compliment.

State Citrus Fair at Colton without so much as referring the matter to the Southern California Citrus Fair Association is apparently deemed offensive to many of the directors of that organization. We are in receipt of letters from citizens of other countles asking who delegated the management to Mr. Holt, and why it is that those the people selected to take charge of the mat-ter are totally ignored. A good many fruit-grewers express feeling over the matter, more against Mr. Helt assum-ing to run the affair than against the proposed location, although they gener-ally seem to think it should be held at the center of population, and if not there, at the point of largest produc-tion. The fact is that Riverside has been rather apathetic about the matter, tion. The fact is that Riverside has been rather apathetic about the matter, and has accepted the proposition that the fair should be held at Colton, because the people of that town propose to erect a suitable building, and because, while that is not a point of great production or population, it is a place easily accessible over both the principal railroads. We doubt not that the management may still be left in the hands of the Southern California Committee, even though it shall be held at Colton. We do not know that the place for holding the fair has been definitely fixed by the State Agricultural Beard, but have supposed from the fact of Mr. Gird's assent to that proposition that such was the case.

The Newly Opened Vanderbilt Mining District,

Where It is Situated, and How It Pass Out - A Virgin Field for the Prospector — The New Camp.

Special Correspondence of The Times CAMP VANDERBILT (San Bernardino county, Cal...) Dec. 5, 1892.—Your correspondent arrived in this camp a few days ago, since which time I have been looking the field over, examining many of the various locations with an eye single to informing the numerous readers of THE TIMES who are interested in mining affairs, of the true conditions and relative prospects of the Vanderbilt mining district.

This district is located in the extreme east corner of San Bernardino county, and some ten miles from the Nevada State line, thirty-six miles north of Goff station, on the Atlantic and Pacific, and 275 miles east from Les Angeles, and on the north slope of the geles, and on the north slope of the New York Mountain. The camp has an elevation of not far from four thousand, five hundred feet. Nut pine and juni-per, the latter a stunted growth of the cedar, is found in the main. range, from two to three miles away. Water is yet, owing to no developments in that line, somewhat developments in that line, somewhat scarce, and is either packed in on jacks—"desert canaries"—(of which we are blest in superabundance, and by which musical animal we are nightly entertained,) or it is hauled in by wagon from springs to or three miles wagon from springs to or three miles away.

The camp at this writing has a population verging well on to one hundred, with some thirty canvas houses, not counting the "dugouts." One pioneer lady, Mrs. Smithson, in conjunction with her husband, has thrown to the winds the well-known and familiar sign, "Board by the day or week." There is one general store, William McFarland and J. M. Miller, erst of Calico, as well as the inevitably saloon, with one or two more promised in the near future; also sons and daughters of the sage brush in superabundance.

Station Goff is the depot for Vanderbilt, from which point a tri-weekly stage is run by Dan McDonald, who holds the lines and wields the rod over a brace of Cayuses. A railroad by way of New York District is projected, and surveyors are now in the field setting stakes, starting from Goff and passing within some eject wills a "the place."

surveyors are now in the field setting stakes, starting from Goff and passing within some eight miles of this place, continuing on to Good Springs, Nev., ultimately, I presume, connecting with some Utah line. This camp was first discovered in 1891 by M. M. Beaty, or, more properly, by "Bob Black," a Pinte Indian.

The formation is grantless.

The formation is granite and syenite. The formation is granted by The trend of the veins is northeast by The trend of the veins is northeast by southwest. The veins are mostly large and well defined. The most prominent mines at present—made so, perhaps, more from being worked upon than from other causes—are the "Gold Bar" and "Gold Bronze." The former is now under bond to William Lyle of San Francisco. A shaft is sunk upon San Francisco. A shaft is sunk upon this vein to a present depth of seventy-five feet, and is being pushed down to a greater depth by a day and night shift, the entire shaft being in ore of an exceedingly high grade from the surface down. The mine is a true bonanza—a golden one—as the ore is rich in gold, free gold being plainly visible.

Water has been encountered in the shaft. The ore is improving in rich.

Considerable development has been made upon this mine, a working shaft having been sunk to a depth of eighty feet from the layer. depth of eighty feet, from the lower level of which drifts have been run on level of which drifts have been run on the vein. Some one hundred and fifty tons of ore have been shipped, with an equal or greater amount on the dump. The ore so far reduced has yielded in the neighborhood of one hundred dollars above expenses of shipment in gold and a few ounces per ton in silver. Water has likewise been struck near the bettom of the shaft at which point as men are the owners of three locations upon this one vein.

The "Gold Bar" was likewise located by Hall, Patton & Taggart.

There are other prominent and fine prospects in the district, to which reference will be made in future letters.

That Vanderbilt district is a rich one all here agree, and, what is best of all, the mines are rich in gold. Sufficient work has been done to test the permanency and true value of the mines, and to establish the fact that the veins are rich and the dominating metal gold.

However rich the mines may be, the chances for prespecting in this immediate vicinity are set good as the district—or that pertion of it within a radius of four or five miles of Vanderbilt—is "monumented"—all claimed. Neither would your correspondent advise these seeking employment, as miners or otherwise, to come here just at this time, as there are sufficient miners here to fill all present demands. But in the near future there will be a demand for miners. For capifal there is a field here—a chance for investment in the mines, with almost a certainty of reward, as the mines are rich in gold and are held at reasonable figures.

Speaking of prospecting, let me say that to the north and east of this lies a great and almost unexplored region—mountains upon mountains, scarcely trod by man, and gold is now being found in veins and in places heretofore not suspected of carrying the yellow metal.

Thus all the old saraparillas contain pot-ash, a nauscating mineral, that instead of de-creasing, actually creates more exptions. You have noticed this when taking other Sarsaparillas have noticed this when taking other sarasparillas than Joy's It's however now known that the stomach, the blood creating power, is the seat of all viliating or cleansing operations. A stomach clogged by indigestion or constipation, viliates the blood, result pimples. A clean stomach and healthful digestion purifies it and they disappear. Thus Joy's Verstable Sarasparilla is compounded. Thus Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is compounded after the modern idea to regulate the bowels and after the modern idea to regulate the bowels and stimulate the digestion. The effect is immediate and satisfactory. A short testimenia to contrast the action of the potash Sarsaparillas and Joy's modern vegetable preparation. Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 400 Hayes St., S. F., writes: "I have for years had indigestion. I tried a popular Sarsaparilla but it actually caused more pimples to break out on my face. Hearing that Joy's was a later preparation and acted differently I tried it, and the pimples immediately disappeared." tely disappeared.

The experimental station at Kingston, R. l., devotes considerable space to beekeeping. They consider the 'principal value of bees to man is their work of carrying pollen from flower to flower,'' and quote from many authorities to prove this, and also to prove that bees do not injure fruit, although they suck the juice after the skin is broken by other insects or by over-ripeness, if they fail to find other food; and in experiments made when bees were in experiments made when bees were confined where they had access to grapes, peaches and plums, they would die of starvation without having broken the skin of any fruit, even after having had fruit with broken skins to feet had fruit with broken skins to feed upon. Parties growing vegetables un-der glass report that they could not get a crop of melons or cucumbers unless bees were admitted to them.

They are testing thirteen different varieties of improved hives of American manufacture, but do not express a preference for any kind. A part of bulletin No. 7, June, 1890, is devoted to the same subject, and gives the result of wintering, a part being kept in the cellar and a part upon their summer stacks, protected by a waterproof case outside of the hives, with a packing of several inches of cork dust around and above them.

In regard to foul brood, they con In regard to foul brood, they consider the best and most natural remedy is formic acid, being much better than either carbolic or salicylic acid. A beekeeper in Ireland uses a 25 per cent. sofution of anhydrous formic acid, which weighs one pound to one and one-fourth pints, and costs 80 cents a pound at wholesale in New York. A wineglass full of this is added to each gallon of syrup, and a little of it is put in a gutta percha or glass dish and placed in the bottom of the hive, so covered with wire cloth that the bees cannot get to it. It is an antiseptic, colorless, nearly odorless, and evaporates at a low temperature. As it is the acid found in the poison of the bee sting, though also derived from other sources for commercial use, it is a natural remedy, and an apiary badly affected has been curred in twenty-one days.

As foul brood is common in some sider the best and most natural remedy

As foul brood is common in some As foul brood is common in some States, great care should be used in buying bees, queens, etc. Frame hives should be used instead of box hives. as it will be much easier to eradicate foul brood if it gets in. Salting water for bees is recommended, as at certain times they seem to prefer it to fresh water, and doubtless as an antiseptic it aids the bees to resist disease.

water, and doubtless as an antiseptic it aids the bees to resist disease.

They say in large litters that "when the worst stage of, the disease has been reached, not only should the combs be destroyed; the hives disinfected, and the bees confined several days without combs, that they may use up the honey in their bodies, but they should also be forced to feed upon medicated syrup before they are given foundation from which to build brood combs. Sometimes mildew on roses may be prevented by pruning in such a manner that branches grow from the outside, thus allowing a free circulation of air through the bush.—[Crown Vistay Pasadena.
